

Hon. Allen W. Dulles

Washington, D.C.

Dear Sir:

I read your remarks in the U.S. News & World Report. Observed that you did not mention, but communistic ideas are being taught in our economics classes. Take time out to examine the books.

Please do not expect them to advocate communism in a forthright manner just bear in mind that the subject cannot be discussed freely in the classroom.

Here is what to look for:

1 - Economics is the study of how man makes his living. The volumes should do other sciences do, concern themselves only with natural laws. Our economics text books instead, ramble on into business practices and may not even mention the natural laws.

2 - Confusing terms: The books are filled with confusing terms. Example:

LAND plus LABOR equals WEALTH

on one page.

On another page you will read that LAND

and various other factors

That is just like saying that 1 plus 2 = 3
then a little later telling the students 1 + 2 = 3 and parts of 2 are 3. If you don't like statements - just get yourself a copy of the economics textbooks used in the colleges near^{to} you. Also the high school books.

3. Government control - w. out. You know as well as anyone, that Communism is a system of control and ownership of everything on the face of the earth. The idea that government control is better will be a general theme throughout the books mentioned.

If you want to stop communism, there is something about these volumes

Yours truly
Robert S. Mc

PS Can give you more examples if you wish.
